Rev. Dr. SEARS has resigned the presidency of Brown University, R. I., to accept the general agency of the PEABODY Southern educational move-It is stated that the Governor of Delaware will probably appoint Mr. THOMAS A. BAYARD, son of the former Senator of that name, as the successor of the deceased RIDDLE. A German count is under arrest in Louisville. Kentucky, for marrying three women there, two in Baltimore, and an entire brigade of ladies in New York. The papers say he has "wife on the brain." The New Berne (N. C.) Commercial recommends General R. F. Hoke as the successor of Dr. PHILIPS, as Professor of Mathematics in the University of the State. General Horr is an accomplished gentleman and gallant soldier. His appointment would give great satisfaction.

It is reported that King GEORGE, of Greece, is to marry a niece of Queen Victoria. We have no kind of objection to such an arrangement, but cannot see exactly where the "niece" is to come from, seeing that her Majesty never had either brother or sister.

JOHN CALLEN, with his team, left Cedar Falls Iowa, for his home, six miles out on the prairie. during a severe storm last week. He lost his way, although the track showed he had been eighty rods from his own house, and was found frozen to death on the open prairie, three days after. The horses were badly frozen. SUMMER, the sartorial, says the Richmond Ex-breeches, is thought by his friends to have worthily wound up his life, and they hint that his place may be otherwise filled next winter. We do not believe it. He will appear in a new role in December, astonishing the world as Sartor Resar.us. Horace Greeney gets of a good thing now and then. In a lecture recently delivered on "Advertising," he said : "Some men who know enough to advertise, are yet so narrow-minded as to confine their advertisements to journals of their own creed and party. If they do not choose to trade with any but men of like faith, this is wise; but if they desire the whole public for customers, it is

Russia is greatly admired by some ple in the United States, but this admira caused by the treatment of the Poles by their Russian or question. A recent official return states that since 1863, 18,683 inhabitants of the Polish provinces of Russia, including 164 women, have been banished to Siberia, 38,780 to the steppes of interior of Russia. Besides these, 2.416 Poles have been sent to the penal regiments, and 1,468 hanged and shot for political offences.

The news from Mexico comes by way of Havana, and is dated at Mexico city on the 13th ultimo. The Liberals were almost under the walls of the capital and prevented supplies from entering. MAXIMILIAN'S army at Queretaro was completely environed by the Liberals. General Diaz had commenced beseiging Puebla. The people in Vera Graz were disposed to insist on a surrender of the place to the Liberal forces outside. Over three hundred persons were in prison in Mexico city, for expressing sympathy with the Liberals and failing to pay their quota of the forced loans. MAXIMIL-TAR's Governor of the city had resigned and intended to leave for Europe.

Senator George READ RIDDLE, of Delaware, died m Washington on Thursday evening. He was born in Newcastle, Delaware, in 1817, studied engineering, and worked for some years on canals and railroads in Pennsylvania and Delaware. The great work at Harper's Ferry was executed under his superintendence. He afterward studied law and was admitted to the Delaware Bar in 1848. In 1850 he was elected to Congress from Delaware, and reelected in 1852. He was a delegate to the Democratic Conventions of 1844, 1848 and 1856. He was afterward elected to the Senate for the term ending in 1889. During his Senatorial career he has steadily acted with the Democratic minority.

-Kossurn still resides in Turin. He has grown prematurely old, and bears in his person the marks of the cruel disappointments and vicissitudes which have marked his life. His hair and beard, which many will remember as a glossy black, have been for several years as white as silver; his form, once so erect, is bowed with grief and suffering, and a profound melancholy, since the death of his with whom he burried all his hopes, marks his whole demeanor. But his voice is still soft and sweet, and his eye still beams with that sad and tender light which gave so much of its wonderful beauty to his face. He is poor, powerless and

Among the numerous public notices pasted upon the huge blackboard at the door of the court house, says the Petersburg (Va.) Index, is one to the effect that on the 3d day of April next, the Bergeant will sell to the highest bidder from the steps of that temple of justice, a black terrier dog, called Bill, to satisfy an execution in his hands. "Bill" was levied upon, we presume, because his owner had no other property that could be touched. But the question arises is a dog property. The Supreme Court of Appeals hold that in criminal aspect he is not. Lower courts have decided that in a civil aspect he is. At any rate, the sale of a dog under the above circumstances is novel and interesting. The desideratum is at length supplied, as we are informed in the following paragraph from the Cincinnati Gazette: "A loyal paper has been needed in New Orleans. With the exception of the Tribune, a small sheet, printed half in French and half in English, and representing the interests of of him. It is for his relief that Government the colored citizens, every journal of the city has repudiated unconditional Union principles. The want is to be supplied by the New Orleans Republican, which is to be published daily and weekly, by S. L. Brown & Co. The first number was to be issued March 25th, but has not yet reached us. The enterprise has the approval of General's But-LER, HOWARD and BANES, and Messrs. WADE, STEVENS, COLFAX, SHELLABARGER and LOGAN, who certify that the parties are true and loyal men." A man was arrested at Queenstown on March 21st dressed in woman's clothing. He has been looked for some time by the police for heading a body of insurgents near Emly, county Tipperary, and killing one of that body. His name is Dunne, and he had only some time previously returned from America, and is therefore designated "An days, last preceding the election. But these American emissary." It is said ue travelled from when arrested here. His mother accompanied him, and both were booked for the steamship Virginia in the names of Hannah Ryan and Kate RYAM, and would have escaped, but both giving their names as HANNAH RYAN when "passing" the Emigration officer. Dunne's brother had also taken passage by the Virginia, but was captured when going on board in the outer harbor. Both captures are considered of some importance. In the Church of the Puritans, New York, on Sunday last, Rev. Dr. CHEEVER delivered a discourse on "The Right of the Colored Race in Convention, &c." After the usual Sabbath evening service Dr. Cheeven proceeded with his discourse. taking for his text the twenty-first verse of the second chapter of the Epistle of Paul to the Romans-"Thou therefore, which teachest another. teachest thou not thyself? Thou that preachest a man should not steal, dost thou steal?" The question here submitted by the apostle was applicable to the Legislature of the State at Albany. CHARLESTON.

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 5, 1867. PROGRESS OF LIBERTY IN FRANCE.

Latest advices from Paris bring the text of the new laws on the press and public meetings. It seems strange, and all but incomprehensible, that these two privileges,—the right to say in public, or print for the public, whatever any one may be inclined to,-which, from long practice we have become accustomed to consider the very foundation stones of civil liberty. should be all but unknown in a country claiming to be a great democracy, where the sovereign was elected to his present lofty position by the universal suffrage of the people. Yet the minister, his Majesty's mouthpiece, says the nation has steadily advanced to "greater destinies" ever since the accession of the Emperor Napoleon III. We must confess, at this point, however, that we have had our misgivings within the last few years, in regard to the great blessings of public meetings and a free press. There is, we verily believe, room for serious doubt, whether we have not perhaps had a little too much of this blessing. In other words, whether much harm has not resulted to the country, and to our free institutions by the license of the press. It certainly has a constant tendency to keep the public in a state of agitation and excitement. The unrestrained right of holding public meetings and discusaminer, having settled the cut of diplomatic sing ev "ything ad libitum, "interpellating" even the most established principles of the Constitution, has also, we believe, been productive of no little evil to the peace and well-being of society in this country.

Still, by nature and by instinct, we are Democrats, and, notwithstanding the recognized danger of too much license to tongue and pen, we must still believe that liberal institutions are not compatible with a fettered press or a muzzled tribune; and, accordingly, we find the people of France restive and impatient of this abridgment of their liberties. The reason of the present agitation of these subjects in that country, is, as our readers doubtless remember the recent decree of the Emperor, proclaiming a large increase of privileges on these and other points. Laws have at length been framed in accordance with this decree, and it is because they still fall so very far short of what the people desire, and what they see other nations around them enjoying, that t opposition speakers and papers keep up the cry. Under the new law any Frenchman may start a political newspaper, and set up a printing office or bookseller's shop without a special license; but in case he commits any of the nuthe Ural, and 12,765, including 218 women, to the merous offences, to which these dangerous professions are exposed, he shall be punished after trial, -without jury, however, -by a judioial officer, and not, as heretofore. by an administrative officer. But when it is ascertained that these judicial officers are not unfrequently ignorant magistrates, taking their cue entirely from the wishes of the Government, (as we have recently seen in the case of M. DE GIRARDIN), this will not be deemed such a great advantage over the ancien regime. The penalties are from 500 to 25,000 francs; suspensities are from 500 to 25,000 francs; suspension of publication of a journal for from DRESS GOODS two to six months; suppression; and disfranchisement for a period not to exceed five years. This is the new and more liberal legislation on the subject.

Public meetings may now be held, provided that neither politics nor religion are discussed. The Greek digamma, the rings of Saturn, and perhaps also the interesting question whether or not gregarines are found in chignons,—these are legitimate topics. Not without conditions, however. For it seems by the new and more liberal law, it is still necessary that seven citizens, one day beforehand, submit a statement of the place, day, opening hour, and object of meeting to the Prefect, who will then grant the required permission. A Government agent must be present, who may dissolve the assembly the moment when questions foreign to its declared object are introduced, or when it becomes tumultuous. He must see that it adjourns before the police hour, i. e. when all the cafes, etc., must be closed. Nor must it be held in the open air. Moreover the Prefect may adjourn, and the Minister of the Interior prohibit any meeting which seems to him likely to be troublesome. His Majesty, we thus perceive, kindly furnishes a chairman to every meeting to be held, who has the requisite authority to "preserve order." In order to a proper discharge of his duties, this "Government agent," who is to be always present, should be a consummate metaphysician. How nice some of the points he will have to decide! For instance take a sitting of some learned NEWSPAPERS, STATIONERY, ETC. society. How subtle the distinction between physics and metaphysics, between morals and religion, between a discussion on the history and polity of ancient peoples and governments, and the inference in the mind of the "agent," that when Rome is said France is meant, Ju-LIUS CESAR stands for Louis Napoleon, and the Rubicon, translated into good Parisian, reads coup d'etat. How the poor agent's obtuse faculties must for ever be on the rack, suspecting that the learned dons are making game has given him the benefit of his own doubts. Whenever he is unable to loosen the Gordian knot, the great Macedonian's expedient is ever at his command. When he is unable to meet logic with logic, he can always "disperse them." The Emperor, moreover, shows a commendable thoughtfulness in requiring all meetings to be held within doors, being desirous to preserve fellow-citizens, we mean) from catching the in-But political meetings may be held betwe. the issuing of the imperial decree for election of deputies to the Legislature, and the five again are placed under restrictions, other and in addition to those already enumerated. Chisement.

While these two new laws show a condition of things, far behind England and the United of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil States, it is generally conceded they are in ad-States, it is generally conceded they are in advance of the old laws. But the age is essentially progressive, and it is fair to predict that these laws must soon give place to more liberal that these laws must soon give place to more liberal that the self-way for four bottles to one address $3.

It may not be amiss here to reflect also that while our present condition is very far from enviable, and what little liberty we have is all upon suffrance,—we are still better off than some of our transatlantic cousins. And although such a comparison cannot persuade us into a belief that we are enjoying the blessings of civil liberty, unrestricted, it yet is not without its comfort. The development of popular institutions in France, moreover, is a very interesting study for the cisatlantic observer. There we see the experiment, perhaps never before tried on the same gigantic scale, of grafting
